Independently bound (with unravelling thread), the unpaginated journal holds thirty brittle, yellowed leaves brownish at the margins with clear, dark ink and legible script. Each page is 30.2 centimeters high and about 19.7 centimeters wide (39.5 centimeters across the full leaf). The hand is consistent. It tightens and clarifies briefly to inscribe what look to be Keeling’s notes for the meeting on 2 June 1608, with an “I” befitting the Generall. There are pen drawings of several landscapes: Fernando de Laronno (6–7 June 1607), Isla Verde and Sierra Leone (5 Aug), “The Land to ye N°. of Cape buena Speranza” (17 Dec), “part of S’. Laurence Island” (17 Feb 1608), Guachincall (9, 17 & 18 Mar), Pemba (26 Mar), Dorfu (18 Apr), Abba de Curia, Dos Yrmanos, and Zokatora (19–20 Apr). Names of the deceased appear in the margins in the original hand; other marginalia have been added later, most of them in ink, a few in a much later hand in pencil. Inked in the margin, a finger points to passages on 18 January, 27 April, and 22 May 1608. The British Library shelf mark is L/MAR/A/5.

APRILL 1607

15 The 15 day wee came into Plymouth sound where wee ffound the Hector not havinge scene hir since the 9th of this moneth at wch tyme wee lost companie wth hir
in a greate ffogg.

Heer wee heard the Consent departed the 12 last past not leavinge any noate ffor our generall of his purpose.
16 The 16 day wee sett sayle out of Plimoth sound the wind beeing at East, and towards night it came aboute more northerly.
18 The 18 day wee lost sight of the Lizard, the wind haveinge bene variable at N.N.West and sometymes at S.W. b.W.
This day wee did speake wth a small shipp of London bound ffor Legorne laden wth corne whoo tould us that there were 3 men of warr, Hollanders, aboute the Lizard
wch hadd pillaged 2 Scottishmen and one of their owne Countrymen, a Hollander.
20 Wee steered S.W.b.S the wind beeing at N.N.W.

This day aboute 8 a clock in the morninge the Hector spent hir fore topmast. And aboute one hower after settinge our lee shrowds in the Dragon, wee had a man washed out of our ffore chaynes and drowned, whose name is David Roch, the wind at N.N.W a very stiff gale.
22 Wee steered S.b.W., the wind blowing very ffresh at N.N.W., wee deeming our selves in the height of Cape St Vincent.
